EDMONTON BULLETIN, DEC. 15, 1888.

THE first session of the new legislature has closed and the members are on their way home. Taken altogether the work done during the last six weeks has been satisfactory. The new government machinery has worked fairly well and as there is not likely to be any change for three years, any defect in it will be detected and a remedy found by that time. The liquor question which excited the most interest and occupied more time than any other work, except the consideration of the revised ordinances, has been left about as it was found. Neither license or prohibition men are likely to be satisfied with merely memorializing the federal authorities, asking them to do something. It was expected that the assembly would have done something practical, but the majority while in favor of a vote being taken did not seem inclined to incur the expense, or risk doing any thing that the Dominion power might veto. It would no doubt have been more satisfactory to make provisions for taking the vote and let the onus of refusing it rest on the central authorities. One thing was however manifest by the debates and that was that the prohibition element is stronger in the house than many supposed. Whether many of those voting with the prohibition leaders did so on personal conviction or through pressure from the temperance element among their constituents we cannot say, but probably both. But whatever it was it was sufficient to prevent any resolution in favor of license being passed and thus reversing the action of the old council last year in favor of license. In all the amendments the straight issue between license and prohibition was avoided and only once was a division taken, when even indirectly license was asked for, and that on motion of Cayley that the federal government take the vote but if they refused to do so, then to substitute a stringent license system. This was defeated by a vote of 6 to 14. Another thing has been shown in the discussions on this question and that is that the license men are afraid of the vote, as all the opposition to it has come from that side. This is significant as they least and bears out the contention of this paper that the majority of the people of the Territories are in favor of a prohibitory law as against any form of license. It is encouraging to have this acknowledgment from the liquor men, even though it does come in this indirect manner.

The amendments made to the school law and prairie fire ordinance will commend themselves to the people of this district. The equalization of the grants to schools will give this district about 25 per cent more money from the fund than formerly received and in consequence the burden of taxation will be to some extent lightened. The compulsory clauses compelling parents to send their children to school will be satisfactory to all except those who do not send their children to school. It is but just to both the children and society to see that no person is turned loose on the world without sufficient knowledge to enable him to do his own business and to read and understand those vital questions to settled in both the political and moral world. The shortening of the summer vacation to four weeks will meet with opposition from the teachers and those who require the services of the children during the busy season of summer. The tendency among educationists to lengthen instead of shorten the summer vacation would seem to indicate that this was a retrograde step. The amendment to the prairie fire ordinance allowing fires to be set for clearing purposes until May 1st is what the people of this district asked for and will be a great benefit, while the southern people have their pasturages protected by having the clause apply only north of the 49th parallel.

ASSEMBLY NOTES.

The Prince Albert Times says: We think our representatives at Regina could find more profitable matters to discuss than the imposition of licenses on small boarding houses. It contends that the plea made by Mr. Betts that it was necessary to impose a license to protect the hotels is about as reasonable a tax on a merchant doing a $5,000 business in order to protect one doing a $50,000 business.

A medical bill introduced by Dr. Brett organizes the medical fraternity into a corporate body to be called "The College of Physicians and Surgeons of the Northwest Territories." It shall have perpetual succession; a common seal; power to acquire, hold and dispose of property; and to sue and be sued. Every practitioner is compelled under a heavy fine to register and become a member of the college. There shall be a council of the college, to be elected at Regina on the first Friday in February, 1889.

The school ordinance was amended on motion of F. Oliver giving teachers supervision over pupils on the play grounds, and in reference to using improper language. The trustees in connection with the secretary of districts to have power to deal with parents and guardians who do not send their children to school as provided for. The summer vacation is to be 4 weeks.

The assembly has passed a resolution nearly identical with the memorial the council sent to Ottawa last year. It strongly urges the Dominion government to take steps to finally end all half-breed claims. They ask that the judges be a permanent commission to settle these claims.

The report of the elections committee asked that a commission be appointed to draft and present to the assembly next year a law, on the lines laid down by the assembly, which are the same as the old law with some amendments. The Northwest Territories act provides for the qualifications of voters and in addition the committee recommends that voting be by ballot and six months residence in the district required. The system is to be the same as that in the first election in the municipalities.

Regina Leader: Mr. Frank Oliver is a man of honor. He always thinks out his own course. He is against his party on the question of commercial union. The other day he spoke strongly against the ballot and voted against it as did Mr. Sutherland. We are not discussing the rightness or wrongness of their views. We merely commend men who use their own reason.

The decision of the legal experts on the constitutionality of the proposed vote on the liquor question "knocked the assembly cold." The debate that followed lasted over two days, and was ably conducted. Haultain and Oliver were the principal representatives of the opposite opinions held by the members on the correctness of the experts' judgment. The former supporting them and the latter advocating the right and power of the assembly to take the vote. After several notices of motions and withdrawals of same and numerous debates and divisions the question was finally disposed of for the session on an amendment asking the federal government to take the vote and if they would not do so, to give the assembly provincial powers to deal with it.

The dinner given by the speaker in the Lansdowne Hotel was an elaborate affair and pronounced a great success by the leader.

THE Militia Gazette for November 29th, contains the following notice of promotion. "Another corps at the capital, has received a new commanding officer, this being the 43rd Ottawa and Carleton rifles, in which Major W. F. Anderson has been promoted to be lieutenant colonel commanding in place of Lieutenant colonel W. White, who organized the battalion in 1881 and has ever since commanded it. Colonel Anderson's promotion ought to be of special interest to the readers of the Militia Gazette, for it was he who was mainly instrumental in establishing the paper and piloted it through the many difficulties, incidental to a new enterprise of this character." Colonel Anderson is a son of Mr. Thos. Anderson Crown Timber agent here.

THE Parlor Concert at the residence of Hon. R. Hardisty, on Thursday, was very enjoyable. Most of the music was furnished by the Edmonton Glee Club. Mr. Thomas Anderson occupied the chair. THE report of the Board of Education was received by last mail. It contains some 122 pages of matter that is of interest to all friends of education in the Territories. All the examination papers for both the February and August examinations are given. In February sixty-seven candidates were examined and certificates granted to forty-two of those writing. Of these one received a first class, nine second class and thirty-two third class certificates. In August thirty-eight passed out of seventy-five, seven receiving first, five second and twenty-six third class certificates. In 1888 there have been 108 Protestant schools open, being an increase of 18 over the previous year. 119 teachers employed being 23 over the last year and $264 paid or $10 more than in 1887. In the Roman Catholic section the figures are, 23 schools, 3 teachers and 640 pupils, being an increase of 2 schools and 2 teachers but a decrease of 10 pupils. For the year ending June 30th, 1888, the estimates were $42,507 and expenditure $4,347. The deficiency was made up by the lieutenant governor from surplus on other grants. The estimated expenditures for the present year are $63,220. Correspondence between the secretary of the board and the interior department shows that the school fund has obtained a share in cattle ranch leases and in the specially surveyed districts such as Batoche, Prince Albert and Edmonton.
